Publishing of the Draft ISBDM and the ISBDM Demonstrator

Details

Publishing the ISBDM on GitHub as an online interactive tool. The ISBDM Demonstrator is sought to provide a quick solution to catch up with the timeline of getting the ISBDM ready for the review phase, until a full-fledged integrated permanent online publishing platform is developed.

The content in this Demonstrator is constantly updated to reflect the developments in content and the deployment of works in the ISBDM. Although publicly accessible, the website is in demonstration mode now and will remain as such until the review process of the ISBDM will start officially.

ISBD RG WLIC 2023 Open session (193) "ISBD for Manifestation: Taking IFLA Bibliographic Standards to the Next Level"

Details

Ahead of a planned soft launch in 2023 of the ISBDM (the ISBD standard aligned to the IFLA LRM conceptual model at the Manifestation Entity level), the session featured presentations by the ISBDM developers covering the main features of an ISBD reshaped to LRM, that is an ISBD that has completed its transformation into a modular, entity-based content standard, implementing and extending LRM, structure wise and modelling wise. The session also demonstrated the potential of delivering IFLA's metadata standards as online toolkits taking the ISBDM as the first model of an IFLA standard delivered as an online cataloguing tool.
